It has been said in China that a city without a wall would be as inconceivable as a house without a roof. Even the smallest village invariably had some form of defensive wall, while the Great Wall of China was an attempt to build a barrier along the most vulnerable border of the entire country.

Chinese Walled Cities 221 BC- AD 1644 (城墙)

The Stone City is a wall in Nanjing dated to the Six Dynasties (220-589). Almost all of the original city is gone, but portions of the city wall remain. Not to be confused with the City Wall of Nanjing. The most specific Chinese word for a city wall is chéngqiáng (城墙), which can be used in two senses in the modern Chinese language.
